ClearPoint Reconnect Program

ClearPoint Reconnect is a program that serves military service members and their families. The program is based on the realization that it is difficult for those in the military to “reconnect” and establish themselves when they return home from service. At ClearPoint, we know about this from firsthand experience. In fact, we have an entire counseling staff made up of veterans and close family members of those who served.

Financial Education for Military

Through the Reconnect Program you have access to free online educational resources. Our interactive site features personalized courses and activities, interviews with military families, and the opportunity to earn credits and rewards. Throughout the program, you’ll develop a personalized action plan to help you achieve your goals and overcome financial challenges. Ready to get started? Visit the VSO links section of this article.
